Zhang Ying: Penang Island's response is slow

148 views

(Penang 4th News) Zhang Ying, chairman of the Penang State Social Development and Non-Islamic Affairs Committee, said that since the Penang Confinement Center Operation Guidelines came into effect in July last year, more than 10 businesses in Seberang Perai Province have successfully obtained licenses. The response is relatively slow.

She called on the industry to cooperate with the government's legalization process, and the authorities will make every effort to assist the industry.

Confinement center operators in Penang only face minor problems

After attending the "Healthy and Active Women" event organized in conjunction with International Women's Day today, she told reporters that the industry in Penang Island mainly faces some obstacles when applying. For example, when she recently visited a confinement center converted from a hotel, there were basically only a few minor issues such as signboard specifications, and she believed that the procedure would be completed soon.

In her speech, she mentioned that the control of confinement centers is a support measure implemented by the state government to ensure the safety of mothers and children. In addition, the government has also introduced a number of benefits for women, such as free

"Healthy and Active Women" is jointly organized by Vision Open University, Gleneagles Hospital Penang and Padang Kota District Women's Development and Family Committee. The event includes lectures and physical examinations.

Yang Ziling calls on women to maintain a healthy life

Yang Ziling, chief operating officer of Gleneagles Hospital Penang, said that breast cancer and cervical cancer are the main causes of death among female cancer patients in our country, and 43% of breast cancer patients are diagnosed at the end stage. In addition, obesity is also associated with many cancers.

She called on women to maintain healthy living habits and encouraged everyone to have a physical examination when appropriate so that diseases can be detected early and seek medical treatment.

Attendees included Batang Kota District Women's Development and Family Committee Chairman Datin Yeoh Pik Teng, Director of the Vision Open University Department Jasmine, Penang Women's Development Organization CEO Ong Mei Ling, Tanjung District MP Lin Huiying's representative Penang City Councilor Chen Huiping, etc.
